For four days

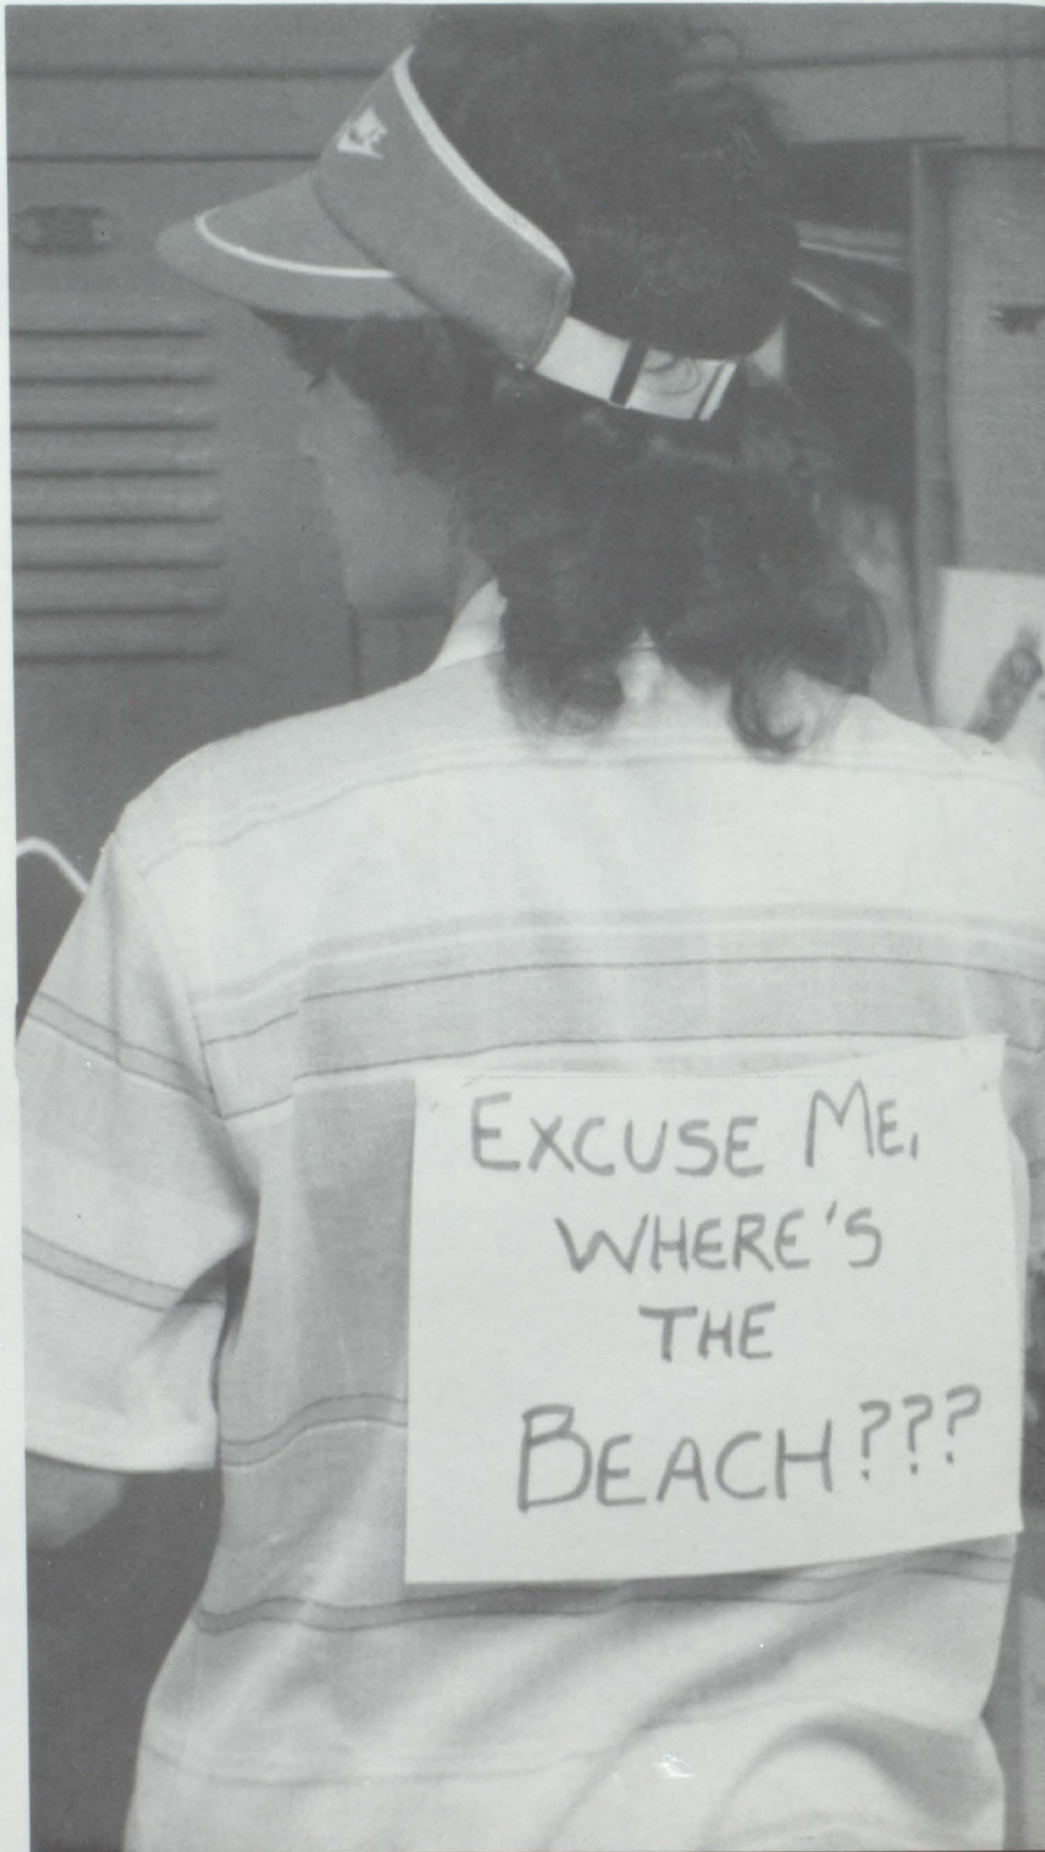

Studies take back seat

It all started when Hershey's kisses, green M & M's, bananas, crayons, and downs invaded the halls of SHS on Costume Day. It was Homecoming 1983, and for the next four days, studies took a back seat to fun.

Students came to school in togas, and as tourists. They compered at everything from cramming marshmallows in mouths and pie-eating to toilet paper passing and rug-of-war. The fourth annual jog-a-thon was held. The halls were decorated and danced in. And it ended with the seniors winning the Spirit Cup and the football team winning the Homecoming game against Yamhill-Carlton 26-0.

Even Superman (a.k.a. Tim Biamont) appeared on Costume Day, but this traditional hero was just one of many who made Homecoming 1983 a spirited time.

Seaside

Team effort brings big season, big win over
Astoria

Seaside's 1983 football season was exciting for everyone involved — players, coaches, and fans. There were exhilarating wins and fiercely fought defeats. The Gulls had an excellent fall, one of the best in years.

This was due in part to talented individuals who were singled out for awards at the season's end: John Riggan was King Football; Jim Folk and Dennis Silva received Coaches Awards; Bryan Derby was voted Outstanding Lineman; Mark Sarpola, Most Improved; and Tim Diamont was Team Captain.

But to these standouts, add many others; the Gulls brought new meaning to the word "team" in 1983. Every player was a hero, and so were some who did not play at all. Chad Bergerson, for example, out all season with a knee injury, was voted Most Inspirational. And Coach Strubby Lyons' family, Vanessa and Lance, continually offered their support and encouragement.

The highlight of the season was undoubtedly the Astoria game. The Gulls beat the Fishermen for the first time in 39 years, 22 to 7. It was cause for much celebration (including a parade through downtown Seaside), but as Coach Lyons said, "Beating Astoria was nice, but one game does not a season make."

The rest of the Gulls' season was characterized by perseverance and a desire to do the best possible. They didn't always win — as in the heartbreaking Clatskanie game that ended playoff hopes — but the team never stopped being competitive. Even their fine 7-3 record does not truly reflect the team's winning attitude and "Superbowl" performance.

Football

"Football provides an opportunity for learning the invaluable lessons of self-sacrifice, perseverance, the tremendous potential of concerted effort in a worthwhile cause, as well as the often over-looked importance of physical fitness. Football is one of the few experiences today that offer participants the satisfaction of achieving goals in a relatively brief time, of rewarding work with success. For you who will continue your careers in football, I wish you success and enjoyment. Never forget the educational role of football, and do not forget that it is a game, meant to be enjoyed. Do not establish victory as your only goal. To win is not the most important thing, but rather to strive to win. It is in the striving that football helps us grow."

Small team heroes

JV-Freshmen take on Goliaths

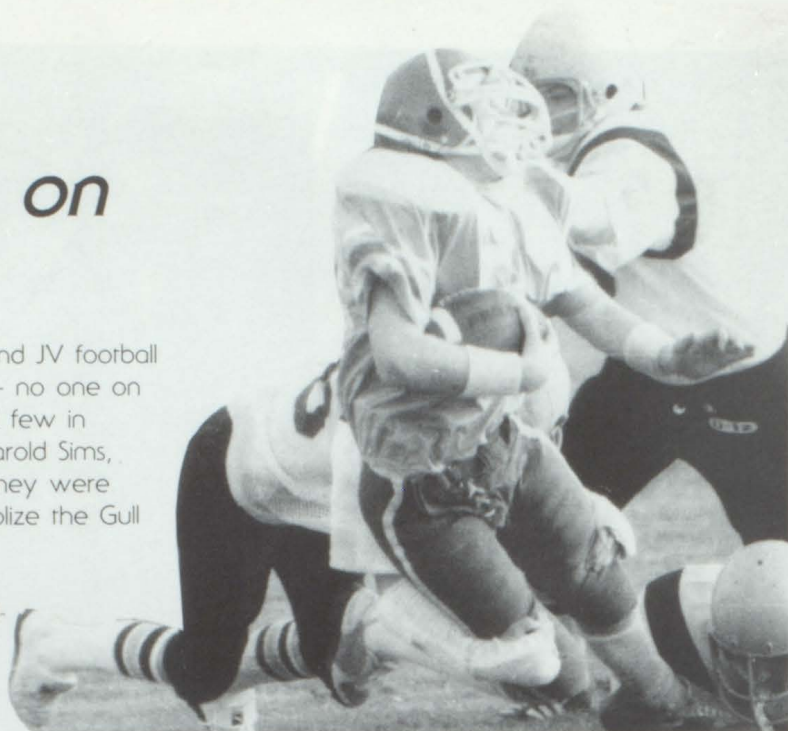

It was a David and Goliath story for the freshmen and JV football teams during the 1983 season. The Gulls were small — no one on the freshmen squad weighed over 120 pounds — and few in numbers. One trio of freshmen linemen (Lloyd Sims, Harold Sims, and Dean Schroeder) all weighed under 100 pounds; they were known as the Sand Flea Squad, and seemed to symbolize the Gull story in '83.

Unlike David, however, the Gulls didn't slay many opponents. The freshmen were 1-5 and the JV team 1-2. But although the season wasn't great for winning, Coach Ryan Paris summed up what was most important: "We had the spirit, and no one could take that away from us."

Ourweighed and outnumbered wherever they went, the Gulls were decided underdogs throughout the season. But they were always willing to take on the odds, and twice they beat them. The freshmen victory over Rainier was a real upset, and it was no fluke: According to Paris, the team just played inspired football. The JV team got their one win against Astoria, always satisfying.

Mark Buzzell was voted the team's Most Inspirational Player; Gary Philbrooke, Best Defensive Player; and Craig Pirman, Best Offensive Player. The Coaches Award went to Chris McCormack.

A runaway for the Raiders! Los Angeles beat the Washington Redskins 38-9 led by the likes of Jim Plunkett and Marcus Allen.

NCAA champions

HOYA PARANOIA reigned as Georgetown, led by Patrick Ewing, beat Houston (and Akeem Olatunji) 84-75. In Football, Miami upset the Nebraska Cornhuskers to claim #1 in 1983.

Track

There was no doubt about track's superstars for '83-84. Carl Lewis and Mary Decker were named Athletes of the Year by Sports Illustrated.

Surfing

Seaside's surfing crowd had heroes like Tommy Curren and Kim Mearns in '83-84. The two Americans won the O.P. Surfing Championship, upsetting the hard-to-beat Australians.

The America's cup

The America's Cup had sat in the New York Yacht Club for 132 years, but the U.S. lost the coveted cup to the Australians in 1983. Liberty was soundly beaten by Australia II.

Tennis

John McEnroe was doing the commercials, dominating men's tennis, and (yes) still arguing with officials in '83-84. Martina Navratilova was virtually unbeatable on the women's circuit.

Golf

It's hard to pick a golf hero, but big names included Portland's Peter Jacobsen, Craig Stadler, Tomi Kire, Lee Trevino, Ben Crenshaw, Juli Inkster, Patty Rizzo, and Fred Couples.

Volleyball

Six-foot, five-inch Flo Hymen, the world's best women's volleyball player, led the U.S. National Team. Another top player was our own Shannon Little, the only girl from the Cowapa League selected for the AA All-Star Team!

At the 1984 Winter Olympic Games in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia Bill Johnson (left) went flat out for glory and won the US's first ever downhill gold. Other medalists included

Phil and Steve Mahre, Debbie Armstrong, Christin Cooper, Scott Hamilton, Rosalynn Summers, and Kitty and Peter Carruthers.

At games, at pep assemblies, in a parade, on rooster buses, at a cross country meet — everywhere you looked — the Fall Rally was out bringing good cheers, bringing fans to their feet, and getting students "a lean, lean, lean, lean, leaning."

Behind the scenes it was more than fun and games: there were long hours of practice, planning, poster-making, fund-raising, and on and on.

The girls also spent some serious hours talking across the conference table with the principal about the idea of "adopting" a school mascot. As you can see below, the idea won approval: Seacil the Seagull became a familiar sight on the sidelines.

The JV and Freshmen football teams played together and apart, so the respective rallies cheered that way too. They are, from left, Jennifer Myers (JV), Michelle Smits, Eileen Reardon (JV), and Colette Rasmussen.

Lots of Long Slow Distance pays off

This year's cross country season can be summed up in one word — heroics. The girls won 9 of 11 meets and had the best win-loss record in the league. But the District Meet brought disappointment when Patty Sturdevant, who was running in 2nd place, stumbled and collapsed 100 yards from the finish line and was unable to continue. Although Lisa Swedenborg, Susan Barnes, Heidi Brady, Kris Beneke, and Lori Gustafson were Cowapa League All Stars, the team finished third.

Patty Sturdevant was voted Most Inspirational by her teammates, and Heidi Brady, Most Improved. Co-Captains were Kris Beneke and Susan Barnes.

The boys won 9 of 12 meets, were undefeated in Cowapa League competition, and captured the League Title, where Jon Doyle, Shawn Cline, Thad Hensleigh, and Vince Stramper were named Cowapa League All Stars.

Two weeks later, the State Meet was a reality as the team was in Eugene to contend with the best. The Gulls placed 13th out of 16 teams, but the excitement and experience made the whole team winners. Shawn Cline was Seaside's top finisher, placing 58th in a field of more than 150 runners.

Thad Hensleigh was named the season's Most Inspirational; Jon Doyle, Most Improved. Co-Captains were Shawn Cline and Jon Doyle.

Assistant Coach Neil Branson summed the season up as "pleasantly surprising, not only because of the success, but because of the hard work and spirit of every individual."

Cowapa League Title

The 1983 varsity volleyball team was "just like dynamite" according to coach Ginny Hamer.

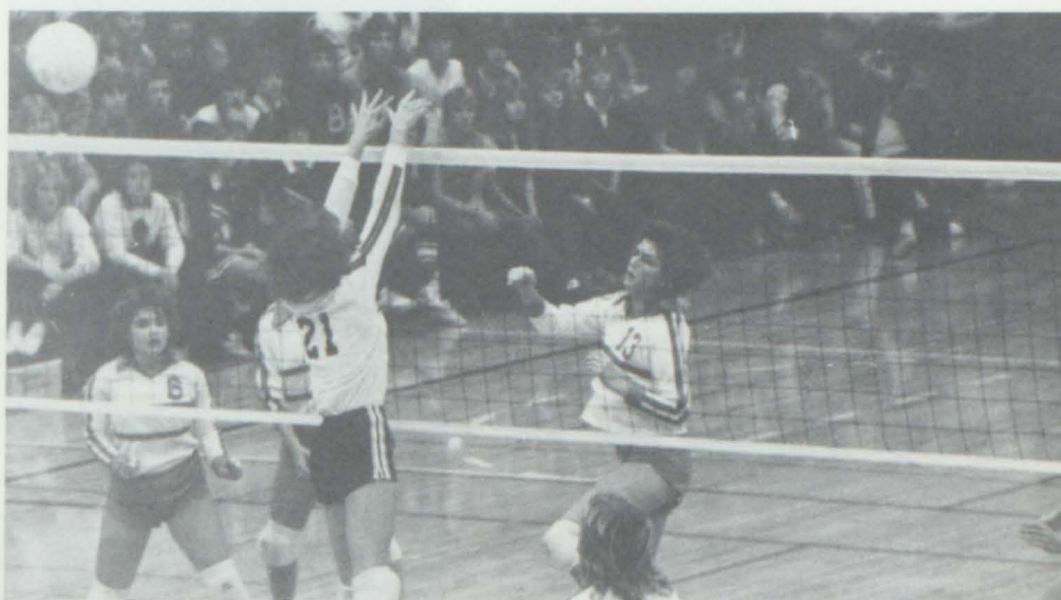

And few teams in the Cowapa League would have argued. Hard work and cooperation led the Gulls to a perfect league record of 12 and 0 and the Cowapa League Championship.

Overall, the team won 18 games while losing only four. Their last loss came in the playoffs. It ended the team's hope of going to State, but ended a season that truly was "dynamite."

Breaks even

The junior varsity girls broke even in '83, winning 8 games and losing 8. And though it was a season of ups and downs, Coach Carol Stutesman praised her team for playing with "a lot of heart all season."

On these pages are a few more images of student life from the fall of 1983. And, of course, there are many more things students did that we just didn't manage to photograph, or didn't have room to include.

The choir, for example, went on a retreat to Camp Kiwanilong in October and participated in the Oregon Symphony Pops Concert in November.

Jennifer Johnson, Kris Karge, and Shelly Weaver placed first, second, and third respectively in the radio event at the Cowapa League Speech Tournament at Clatskanie.

And the list could go on and on, because over 400 students kicked off a new school year, and each was a hero in something, somewhere.

Close, but . . .

Remember these heroes:

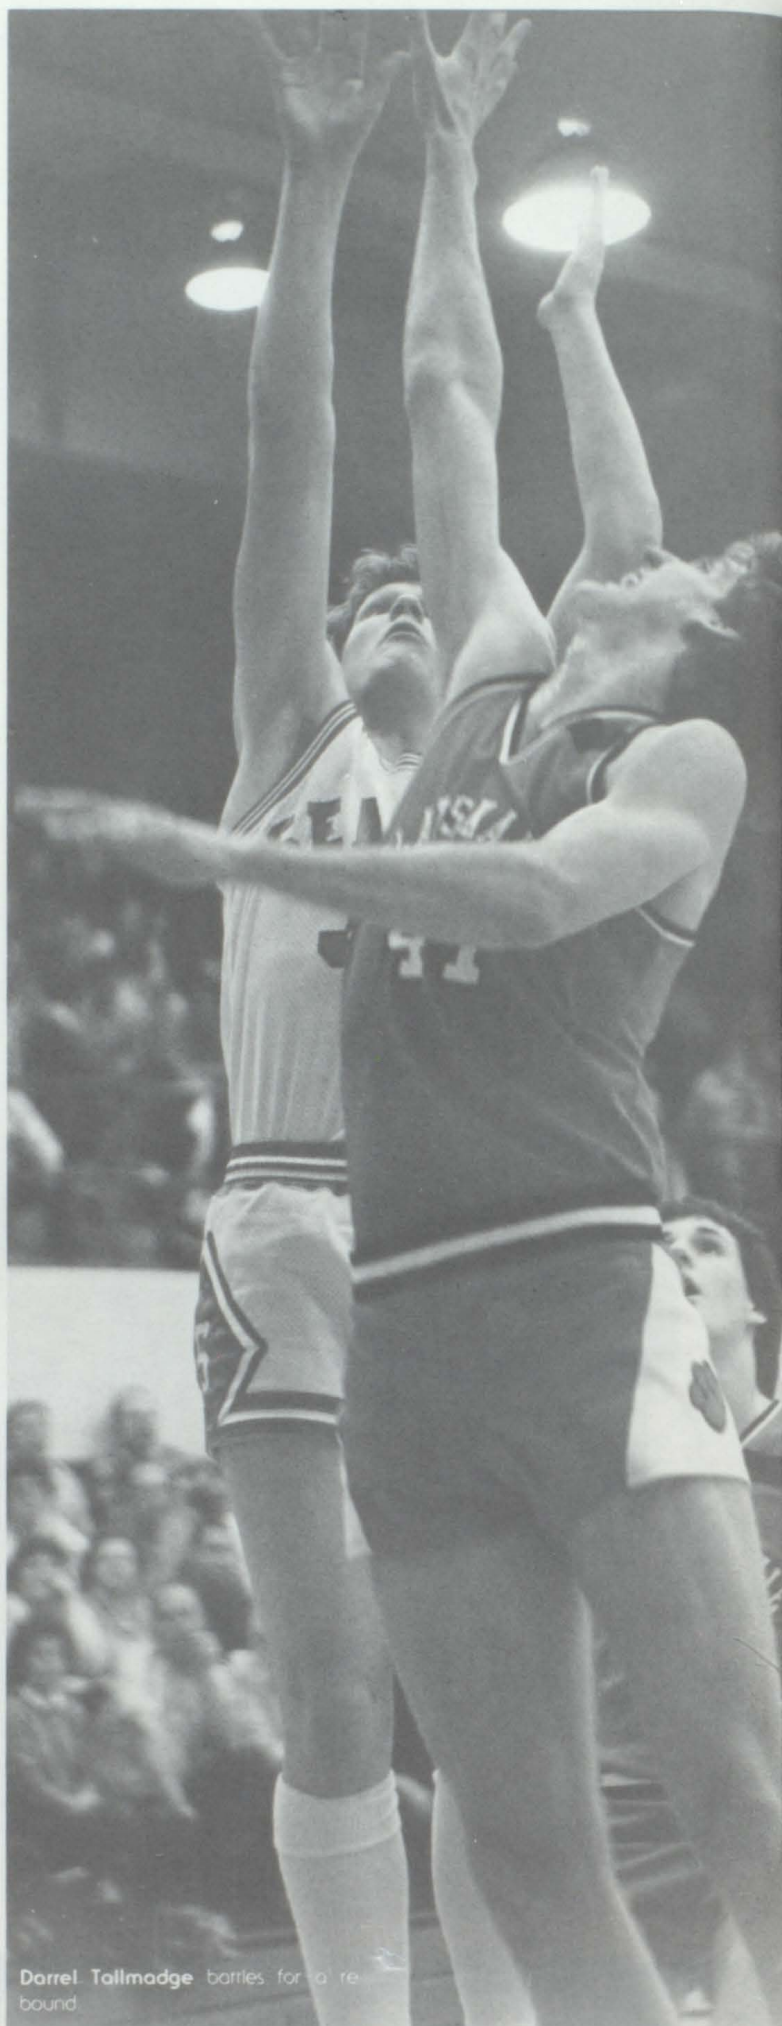

It's Seaside at Astoria. The game is in overtime and only seconds remain. Seaside trails by one. Shawn Cline gets the inbounds pass at mid-court and gets clobbered by Fishermen. A foul is called but Cline is too shaken up to return. Jim Folk comes off the bench to shoot two free throws. All eyes are on Jimmy and the first shot falls through. Tie game. The second shot arcs up, down . . . and in. And Seaside beats Astoria!

That was one of many accomplishments for the 1983-84 basketball team. They also beat every team in the league at least once, won the Holiday Classic by defeating Tillamook, and recorded the best free throw shooting percentage (65%) in Seaside history. One of the team's main goals was to place in the top four and gain a playoff berth. But although they did place in the top four, a rule concerning two teams tied for first kept the Gulls out of playoff action.

"This year's team was one that matured late in the season," said Coach Larry Elliott. "They won 7 of their last 9 games." The team finished the season with an overall record of 12 and 8, and with lots of memories.

Close but...

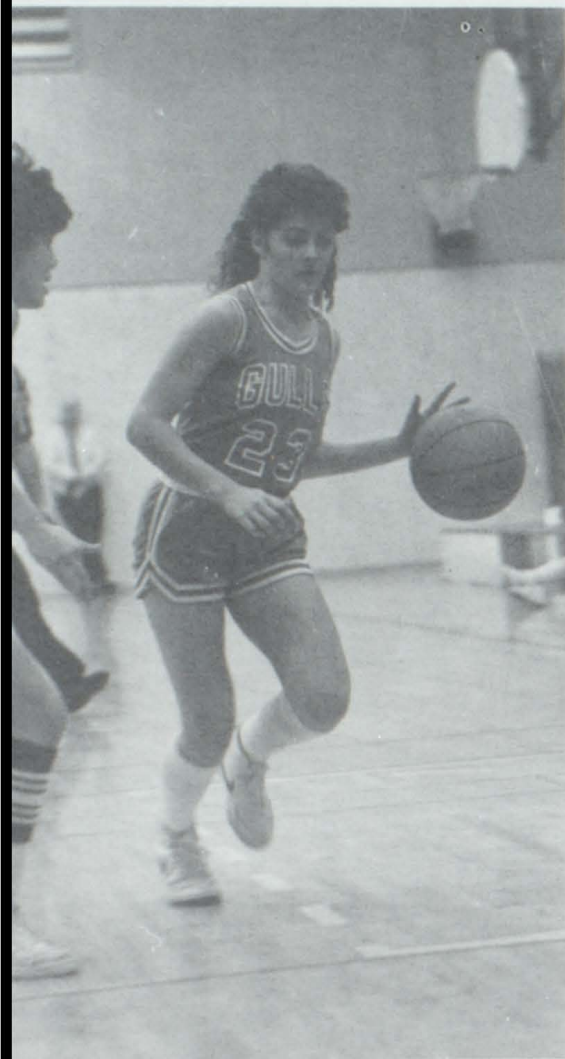

No cigar, Part 2

With a league record of 7 wins and 5 losses, the Seaside girls placed third in the Cowapa League in 1983-84. But it was a carbon copy of the boys' experience as far as the playoffs were concerned: two teams (Astoria and Tillamook) tied for first and kept the playoffs to themselves.

But forget that, and remember... Polly Campbell writing notes to the team, or providing comical commentary over the microphone. Having butterflies before a game. Being on the court. Making a great shot. Or choking. Cheering from the bench until you were hoarse. All the hard workouts. The aching muscles. The floor burns. Squeaking tennis shoes. The bus trips. Locker room elation, or disappointment.

These are what you want to remember, and will remember, more than anything else.

Win a few, lose a few more

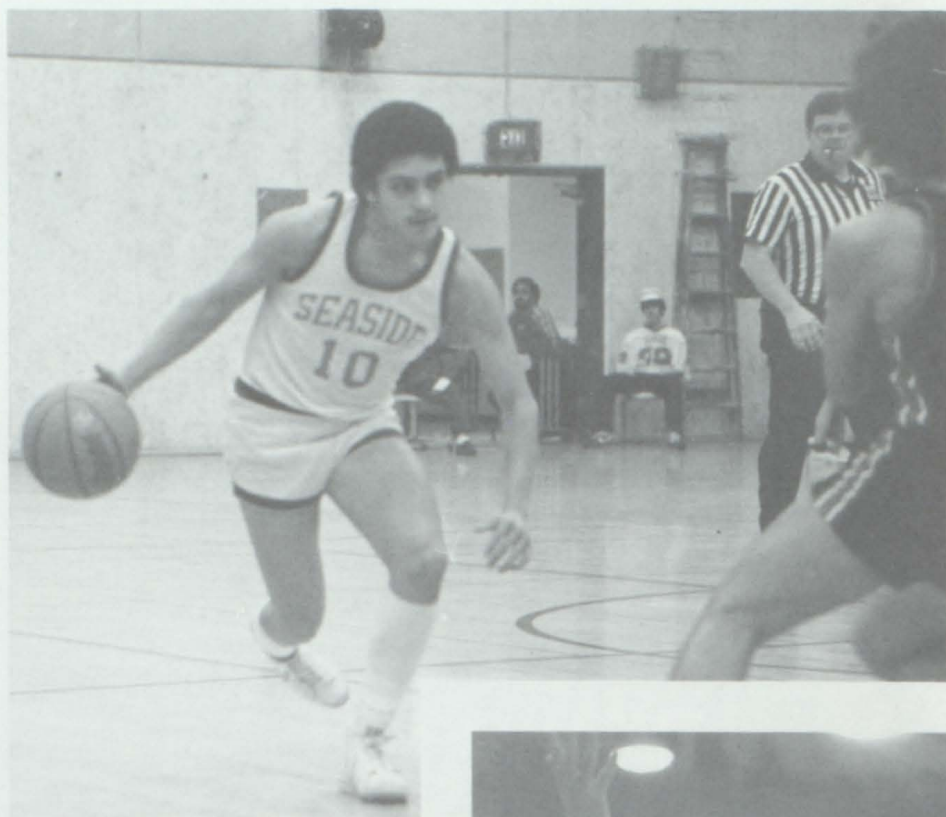

They won seven.

They lost thirteen.

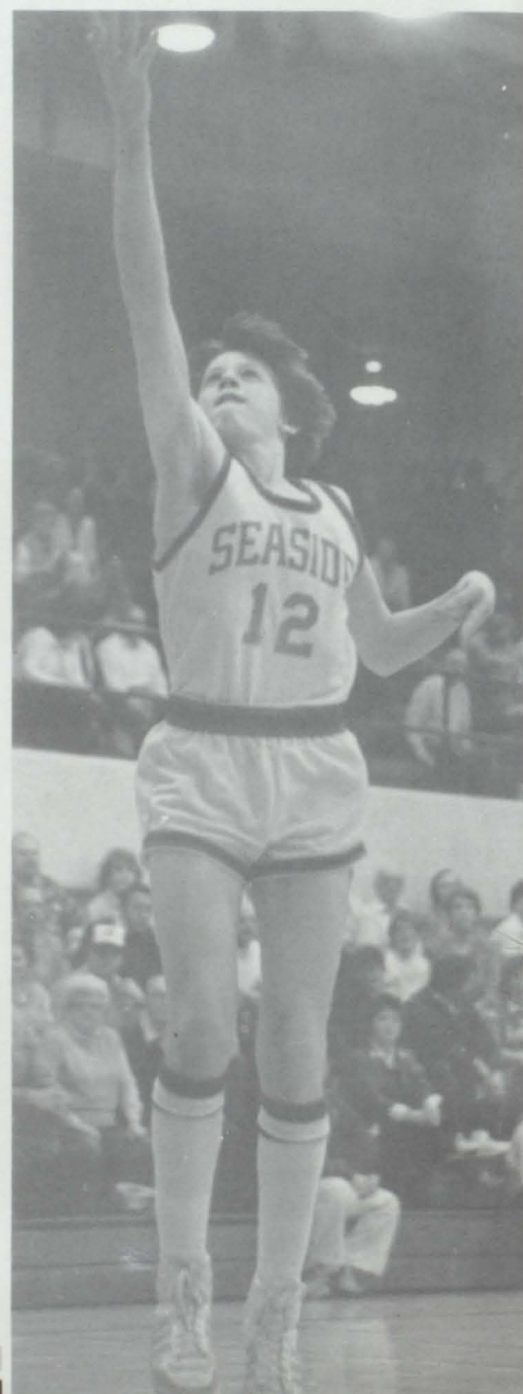

On the surface it doesn't look too good. But in reality, the JV basketball season was successful. Success, after all, is more than winning games. The team kept together, persevered no matter what the outcome, and tried to learn from mistakes. That is success.

The second match-up against Rainier was the season's highlight. After being badly beaten on the Columbian's court, Seaside recovered and stomped on Rainier in an extremely well-played game.

Some of the year's top players were David Huls, Leading Rebounder; Brian Goolsby, Most Inspirational; Terry Bassett, Most Improved; and Jamie Lerma, Best Defense. Lerma was also picked for the JV All-Tournament Team when Seaside traveled to Jefferson. One player who fit the title of unsung hero was Mike Hogan; he was sent in for six crucial free-throws during the season and made five of them.

Freshmen get back to basics

"I think the boys learned a valuable lesson this year — it still comes down to basics," said Coach Strubby Lyons. And the basics — defense, rebounding, making layups, shooting, and passing — are what the freshman basketball team worked on mastering all season.

Despite their 9-10 record, the Gulls were always competitive, especially during the last half of the season. This, and beating undefeated Astoria 41-28, were the highlights of the season.

Mark Buzzell, the team's MVP, was also the leading scorer with 251 points. Jim Hanthorne was the top rebounder; Adrian Everette, Best Defense and Hustle; and Ryan Kell, Most Improved.

The freshmen team got back to basics this year. And the result was an instructive and enjoyable season for all involved.

JV's win

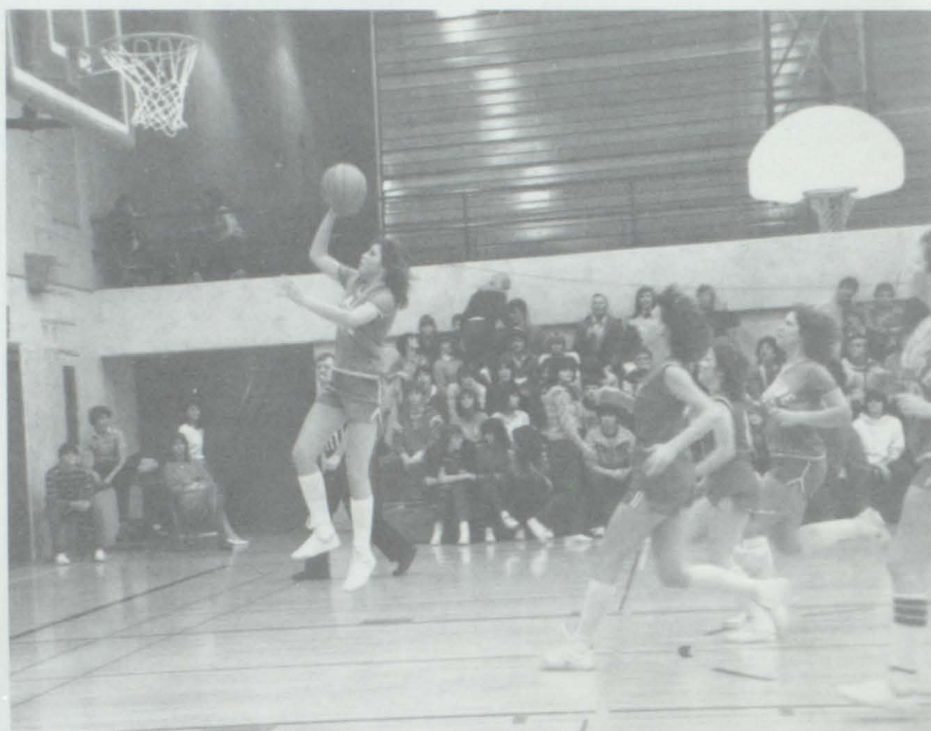

All but one

You can't do much better!

Led by the scoring punch of Sue Howarth (leading scorer) and relying on aggressive defense and full-court pressure, the JV's won all but one game, their only loss coming at the hands of Tillamook.

Season highlights included winning the Christmas Tournament at Clatskanie and winning two close games against Astoria.

Also worth remembering is Laurie Odegard's talent for fouling out — and the fine job Leanne Reid did coming off the bench (frequently) to fill the gap.

The team won ten games and lost only four (all close). And they enjoyed the satisfaction of beating Astoria twice, destroying the Fishermen the first time by over 40 points.

Rallies make it

"Our SHS spirit really can't be beat!"

That was true during the winter of 1983-84, thanks to the dedication and hard work of the Winter Rally. It may have been dark and cold and rainy outside, but inside — on game nights — it was always bright and warm and spirited as the rally cheered the Gulls to a victorious season and got the student body clappin' hands and stompin' feet with them.

The rally gets behind its sports heroes. But here let's turn things topsy-turvy: Three cheers for the rally. They were heroes too!

"The 1984 Wrestling Team showed marked improvement over the previous year's team. With only five experienced wrestlers returning, the task at hand seemed insurmountable. The team had to focus on the goal and start forward one step at a time.

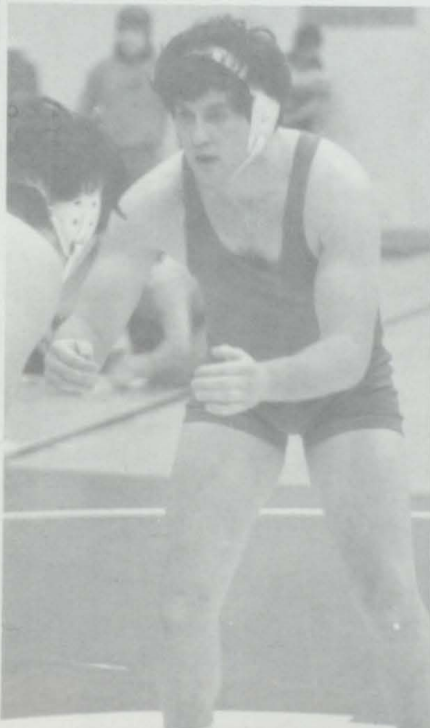

Success should be measured from where a man starts his journey, not where he ends up. So it should be with this group of young men.

They began their journey in the desert looking for the mountain, but by season's end they were camped securely at the base ready for next year's ascent to the summit.

I would like to personally thank the members of this team for their hard work and commitment. They are the rock that this program will build upon, and in 1984 they proved to be equal to the task."

Rudaj Vendrell

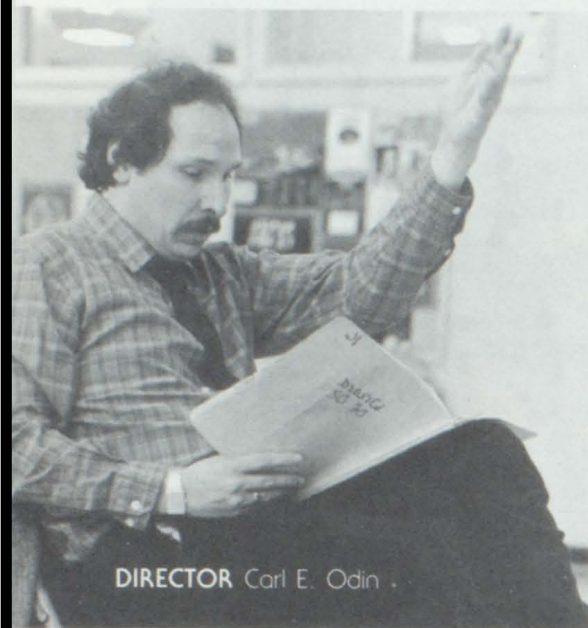

Dennis Silva is ready for anything. Silva was Seaside's most outstanding performer and placed fourth at District in the 191 pound class.

One, two, three and it's a pin for Mark Wolford. He was fifth at District in the 168 pound class and inspirational all season.

BOYS UNBEATABLE

No doubt about it, Seaside was the dominating force in the Cowapa League in 1984.

The boys team won every regular season meet except one (they lost to East Catholic of Belview, Washington by 2 points), and topped off the season by easily winning the District Championship with 149 points.

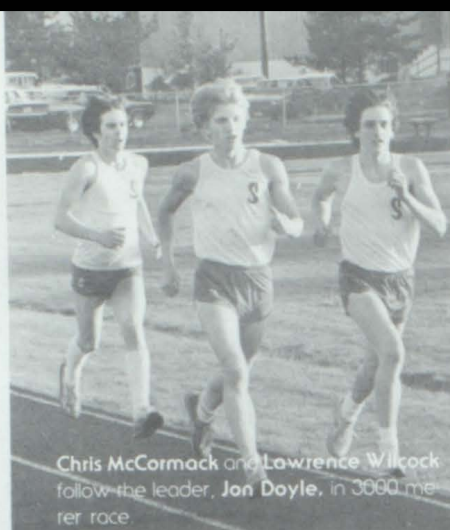

At District, eight Gulls qualified to compete in the State Meet at Mount Hood Community College. Unfortunately, Frank Van Dyke, a member of both qualifying relay teams, pulled a hamstring the week before State and without him neither relay team made the finals.

At State, Tim Diamont ran in the 100 and 200 meter dashes, making the finals in the 100 and placing 8th. Mike Maki tied for 6th in the high jump. Thad Hensleigh ran the 3000m. And Jeff Stroller (left) turned in the best finish for Seaside, placing 4th in the discus.

Said Coach Gene Gilbertson of the 1984 season, "It's nice to win."

Varsity Baseball

The Gulls were the champs

When the 1984 varsity baseball team played Marist in the State AA quarterfinals in Hood River on June 5, the KSWB broadcast was piped over the school intercom and nearly everyone was listening. The Gulls had rekindled baseball fever...

They had won the league championship for the first time in eight years. They were 15-3 in league play, 23-3 overall. They had made the playoffs for the first time in five years. And they had beaten Central in the first round at Broadway field — 5-4 in eleven innings.

Seaside rallied from a 5-0 deficit and took their quarterfinal game into extra innings. They eventually lost to Marist 6-5, but it had been a great season in a year that many were calling The Year of the Gull.

Relying on strong pitching from Jeff to clinch the league title.

A soggy success story

CLOCKWISE FROM ABOVE: Becky Rutledge at bat; Paula Thompson and Heidi Olson — pouting in the dugout; Rutledge firing it to first; First baseman Diane Elliott; Coach Carol Stutesman — when she talks, players (like Angie Golleher) listen.

RAINED OUT! Those were familiar words for Seaside athletes in the spring of 1984, including members of the varsity softball team.

"If I hear those words one more time I'll scream," said pitcher Paula Thompson when we spoke with her in the gym one gloomy afternoon. "I can't remember what a diamond looks like. The only chalk I've seen for weeks is on blackboards. I'm delirious from all this gym practice."

Just then someone poked their head in the gym. "Rained out for today, Gals."

Actually, it wasn't that bad, and the varsity girls had an outstanding season. They managed to make up most of their games, and they came up from the flooded basement to place third in the Cowapa League with an 8-5 record. The Gulls were led by the pitching of Thompson, the hitting of Heidi Olson, Lori Bergeson, and Tracey Earl, and the defensive play of Diane Elliott and Becky Rutledge. The team had an overall record of 11-5.

Questions the first day of practice may have included, "What's a bat?" and "Which way do I run the bases?" But by season's end, the JV girls were polishing finer points of the game and had won two games (the first wins for a SHS JV girls team in three years).

"There was a lot of inexperience," said Coach Becky Mizell, "but the girls came a long way. By the end of the season they looked like a totally different team."

Kudos go to Jayna Starr and Kristi Derby for unselfish play and hard work. And our unofficial Unsung Hero Award goes to Anna Sims, the team's manager. On several occasions, Anna was called on to take a glove and take the field when the team was short players. That's being a hero!

It's a gorgeous spring day on the links. You've got a wood in your hands. A gentle breeze glides lightly down the fairway. You strain to see the emerald green putting surface and plan exactly where your ball should land. You take a deep breath, cock your club, bring the wood down . . . and then you hear it — that unforgettable sound of club hitting ball. The small object takes off into the brilliant blue sky and you squint to follow its flight. It sails off, then begins to slice. It's slicing, slicing, slicing. "Not that way, you stupid ball! Not that way!" And then you hear it — that unforgettable sound of ball hitting glass. It was Mr. Ripper's car.

Hold everything! This may be a typical day on the course for your average golfer, but it wasn't for Seaside's 1984 golf team. The Gulls had a terrific season. They were undefeated in Cowapa League action, placed second in the District tourney, and competed in the Oregon Class AA boys' golf championship at Salem's McNary Country Club.

Seaside placed 10th in the 12-team state tourney, but they had their moments. Derek Gustafson was three strokes off the lead after the first day and the team was sixth. Others competing at state were Mitch Ward, Jim Folk, Jeff Carden, and John Riggan.

Audiences enjoy chocolate mousse and Charley's Aunt

British comedy a "jolly good show"

The English comedy "Charley's Aunt" by Brandon Thomas came to the stage at SHS in the spring of 1984. During three performances May 3-5, the ten cast members made it all look easy, but according to Director Carl Odin, "Pulling off a play of this caliber in five weeks was a small miracle."

Consider. Several lead roles were played by students with limited experience. The play is exacting in its pace and demands for comic timing.

And Steve Parsons (here's heroism for you) had only three days to rehearse for the role of Brassett, the Butler.

But pull it off they did, and delicious comedy was made more delicious for audiences by chocolate mousse and strawberry cheesecake made and served for the dessert theater by SHS Foods students.

As Fancourt Babberley would have put it — it was a jolly good show. And few will forget Charley's Aunt from Brazil — where the nuts come from.

It took a while, but Jack Chesney (Jason Dorson) finally got up the courage to give his flame Kitty Verdun (Rene Becker) the kiss. BELOW: Kitty and Amy (Julie Pershin) are completely taken by Lord Fancourt Babberley (Todd Thornton), thinking that he (or she) is the real Charley's Aunt.

Spring 1984. There was way too much rain, but the Memorial Day weekend was great: Ninety-two percent of the student body got too much sun and came back to school burned bad. Ouuuch! Table pour deux, s'il vous plait. An unusual classroom activity in the spring was the opening (for a day) of Le Cafe Americain in Room 4. It was a joint project of Miss Chappelle's French I and 20th Century Literature classes and featured 1920's decor, dress, and music. Coffee and French pastries were served. French was spoken. And literature students masqueraded as 20's writers. In the photo — Maitre d' Kris Johns and waitress Lisa Gilbertson. ABOVE: Beautiful music was the fare at the Spring Concert May 31. Michael Jackson Thriller

U.S. Marines were in Lebanon in '83-84 and 209 died when a suicidal terrorist driving a bomb-laden truck crashed into a barracks. American troops (and no American journalists) were also in Grenada. AIDS was news. So were mines in Nicaraguan harbors and elections (and U.S. involvement) in El Salvador, and MX Missiles, and a huge national deficit, and James Watt's resignation, and Jesse Jackson's campaign for the presidency. The Russians shot down a Korean jetliner and boycotted the LA Olympics. Yuri Andropov died. Ma Bell clicked off with the break up of AT & T. David Kennedy died and...

A 1984 time capsule

Fashion . . .

Fashion in '84 took a jump backwards. The 50's came back with a big bang. Cropped pants, plastic shoes, and the "bob" haircut became everyday sights. People with their hair slicked back with setting lotion, Vour nets in place, and colored high tops were everywhere. Well-groomed was in, and many guys sported short, clean-cut hair, classic polo shirts, and even ties. The preppy look was hot. But so was the sloppy look. After seeing Flashdance, girls everywhere tore their sweat shirts to pieces.

Locally . . .

The Shilo Inn went up (and up, and up!). You could get a Big Mac at a new McDonald's in Astoria. "Cruisin' Broadway was the thing on weekends.

Fads

Every year has its fads. In '83-84, kids everywhere played video games on home computers and in arcades. Parents would do anything for Cabbage Patch Dolls. Hackey sac was in. Skate boarding seemed to be coming in. Ghetto blasters blared. Break dancing was a rage. Soaps — day and night — had millions hooked. Remember Days of Our Lives, All My Children, Dyn-

Movies

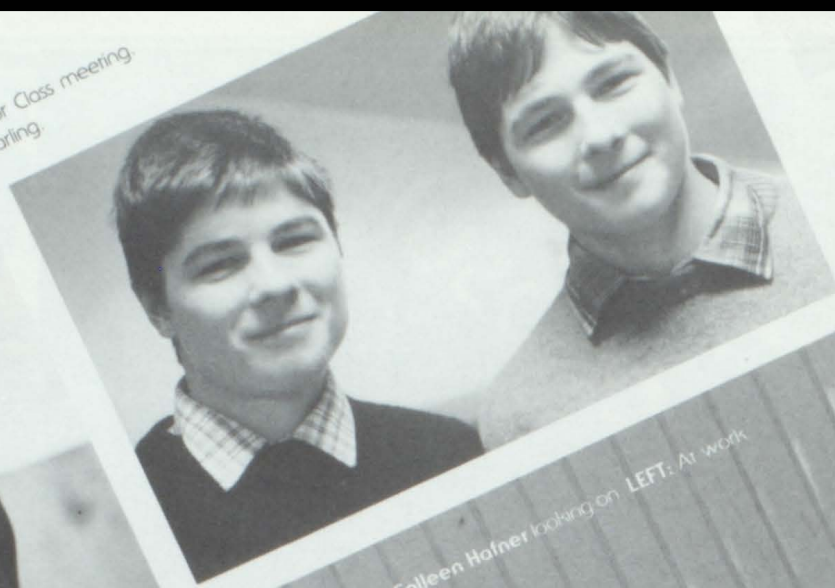

These titles should trigger memories: Risky Business, Flashdance, Footloose, Splash, Against All Odds, Terms of Endearment won five Oscars. Two of the favorite horror flicks were Christine and Friday the 13th, The Final Chapter. On television, The Day After took a look at nuclear war and had record audiences watching — and wondering . . .

Music

Groups like Quiet Riot, Def Leppard, and Bob Seger's Old Time Rock and Roll were favorites in 1983-84. Michael Jackson was everywhere. The Police and Van Halen were hot. And New Wave was the "in" thing. Duran Duran, Prince, Boy George's Culture Club, Adam Ant, and David Bowie were the bands to listen to. MTV, Music Television, was a smash hit!

Seabreeze Power...

Putting out a yearbook is expensive. So where did the POWER to publish come from?

It came from the 310 students and half-dozen or so teachers who purchased yearbooks. APPLAUSE!!

It came from people who bought booster and patron ads. THANKS Y'ALL!

And it came from our FANTASTIC advertisers! We appreciate their help, and we encourage all our readers to look through these ad pages and then support the businesses who support our school annual.

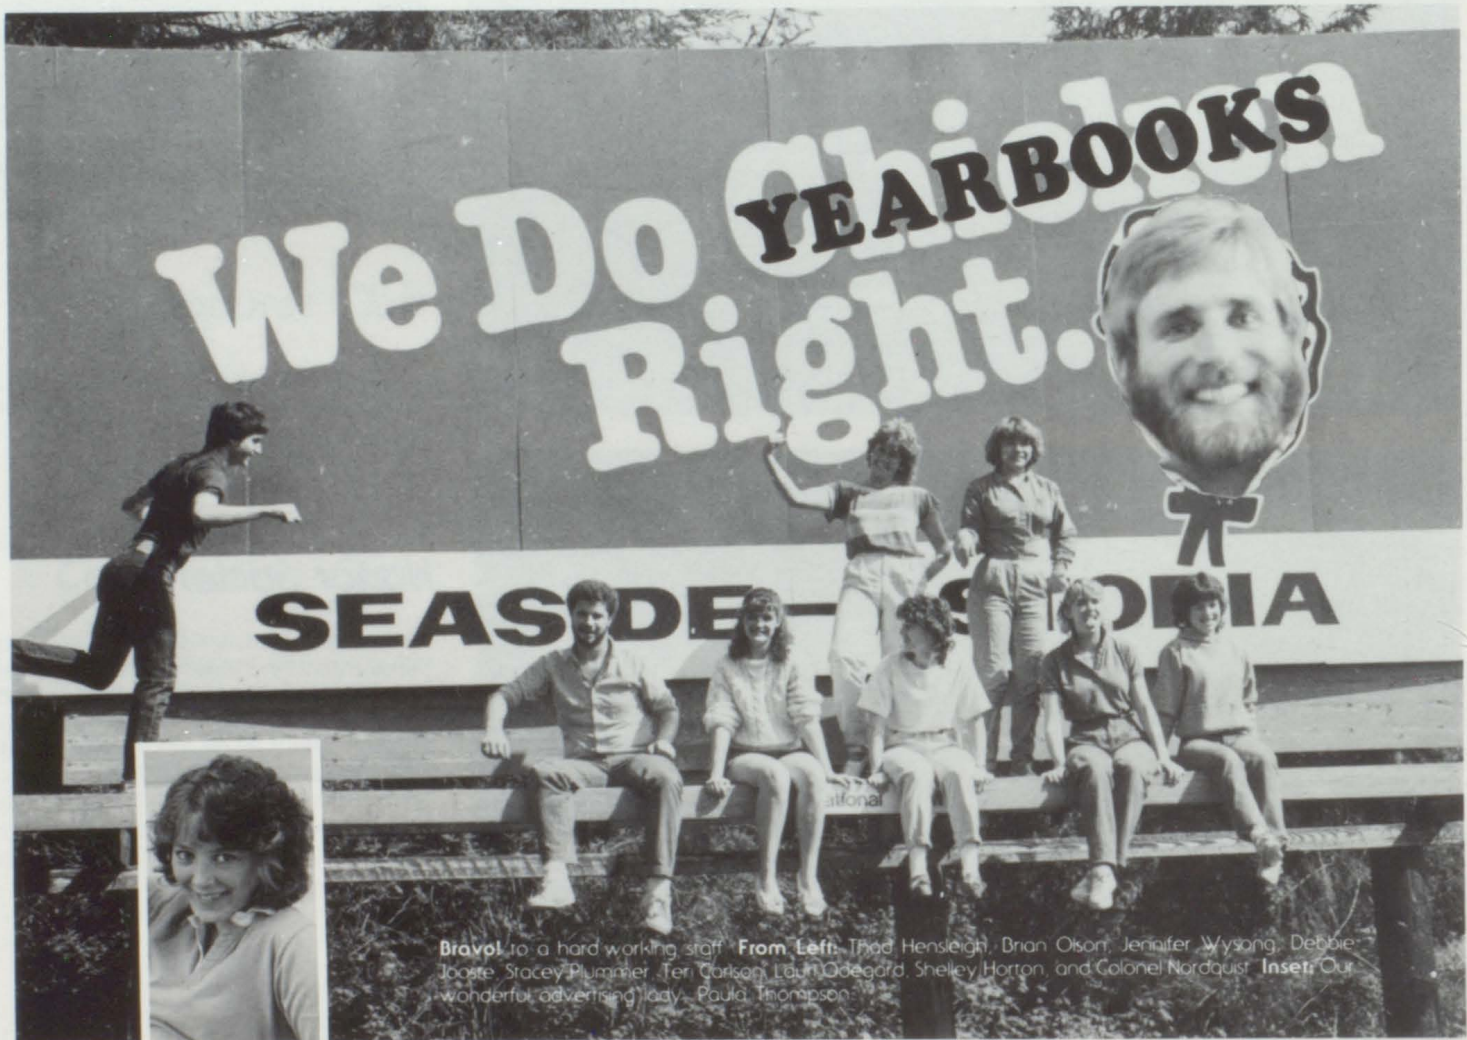

Special thanks also goes to Rusty Bradshaw of the Signal for all his help (luv ya, Rusty!). To Jerry Olson of Photo-Run — our supply line. To Bill Wagner of the Daily Astorian for allowing us to use his award-winning photograph on page one. And to all the people at SHS who provided us with such great material!

WHERE'S THE BUN?

Milo's offers this challenge: Eat a Hollow Leg Special (pictured) in 5 minutes and you get it free! Jeff Sroller did it in 1984. He may have been the first; he may be the last. It took Mr. Nordquist nearly an hour to finish the burger in this photo. And remember, Milo's has superb hamburgers and sandwiches for less ravenous appetites.

*Every person,
all the events of your life,
are there because you have drawn them there.*

What you choose to do with them is up to you.

Remember the heroes, and remember that you were one of them.

... the end
